

ON ICE!

LOW MAYOR BY 30,000 JEROME ELECTED DIST.-ATTY; VAN WYCK BADLY BEATEN.

Fusion Ticket Carries with Thousands of Brooklyn Votes to Spare---Shepard Silent Under Defeat.

Crocker Concedes Low, Though Hoping for County Ticket--Shepard in the Lead in Queens and Low in Richmond.

CROKER CONCEDES LOW'S ELECTION.

Says Brooklyn Did It, but that County Ticket Is Safe.

At 7:25 P. M. Richard Crocker said to an Evening World reporter: "Brooklyn has elected Low. I am confident, however, that we can save our county ticket." As Mr. Crocker finished speaking he looked around for Van Wyck, who a moment before had been standing beside him. Van Wyck had disappeared. Somebody had seen him put on his coat and leave the Wigwam.

EVENING WORLD 'PHONES NEWS TO JUSTICE JEROME.

The Evening World called up Justice William Travers Jerome by long distance telephone at his summer home in Lakeville, Conn., and informed him that Seth Low had surely been elected Mayor of Greater New York. "That's good," cried the strenuous candidate. "He was told that five districts out of 887 gave him 518 to 391 for Unger. "Oh, that doesn't scare me," he said. "I still think that I am elected."

Whirlwind Candidate Delighted to Hear that Low Is Elected--Feels Confident of His Own Success.

Just at that moment a bulletin arrived giving the vote for District-Attorney in 10 election districts out of 887 as 1,308 for Jerome to 1,069 for Unger. This intelligence was at once conveyed to the Justice and he expressed his delight. "Do you feel that mighty efforts have been made to knife you?" was asked the Justice. "Oh, yes," was the reply, "but I feel sure that I have been elected."

"LOOKS VERY BAD"--Van Wyck.

Mayor Van Wyck, asked about the election at 7 o'clock to-night, said: "It looks bad," and turned away.

VAN WYCK BEATEN BY MORE THAN 25,000.

The Associated Press report on the Judiciary shows the following figures on 200 Election Districts out of 887 in Manhattan and the Bronx: O'Brien, 60,810; Blanchard, 31,978;

Clarke, 31,103; Greenbaum, 32,646; Van Wyck, 26,692; Knox, 30,616, and Dayton, 30,824.

This shows that in a vote of 60,000 Van Wyck runs behind his ticket about 4,000 votes. This indicates that in a total vote of more than 300,000 in the Judiciary, Van Wyck will run behind 20,000 and that he will be beaten by more than 25,000.

CROKER CONCEDED LOW GRUDGINGLY AT THE LAST.

Richard Crocker had almost to fight his way into Tammany Hall when he returned from his dinner. He found there a great concourse of braves assembled in the room of the Executive Committee. Mr. Crocker took his seat at the head of the table at 6 o'clock. He wore a blue cutaway suit and had a pink in his buttonhole. His face was smiling and confident.

Opposite him was a telephone operator in direct connection with Police Headquarters. Thomas F. Smith, Mr. Crocker's private secretary, read the returns as they were received. Those seated close to Mr. Crocker around the table were John F. Carroll, Maurice Untermyer, Maurice Blumenfeld, John A. Mason, Judge Warren W. Foster, Alfred Downes, private secretary to the Mayor; John C. Maddox and Commissioner of Accounts John C. Bertie.

Mayor Van Wyck came in after bulletins had been read for about ten minutes. These bulletins had not been discouraging but the Mayor elbowed his way to Mr. Crocker's side and stood there smiling.

The gloom in Tammany increased as the bulletins continued to foreshadow a fusion victory. When the Evening World extra announcing the election of Low reached Fourteenth street the rank and file of Tammanyites threw up their hands.

A crowd of young Republicans with a band marched past the Hall at 7:35 o'clock. They made the buildings tremble with the vigor of their yells and drowned the voices of the readers of the bulletins in the big assembly-room. From Tammany there came not an answering yell. The impression of defeat was too depressing to allow of even a bluff at enthusiasm.

Mr. Crocker let it be known to the faithful assembled in the Wigwam that he conceded the election of Low at 8:30 o'clock. When this news filtered through the crowd in the big hall upstairs departed silently. Within half an hour the men who were reading the returns had a small audience hanging on for hopeful news of the county ticket--news that never came.

MURPHY KNEW IT ALL THE TIME.

Commissioner Murphy was seated alone in his office at Police Headquarters when seen by an Evening World reporter. "It don't take much of a guesser," he said "to tell which way things have gone. I don't want to talk about it."

SHEPARD SILENT ON THE RESULT.

Defeated Candidate Says He Has No Statement to Make as Yet.

Edward M. Shepard said at 9 o'clock to-night: "The defeated candidate for Mayor has no statement to make as yet." Mr. Peabody said Mr. Shepard would wait to see where he had been defeated before telling why it happened.

"SAFE TO SAY I AM ELECTED."--LOW.

Mayor-Elect Gratified at Defeat of Van Wyck, but Feels Anxious About Jerome.

Mr. Low gave out the following statement at 9 o'clock: "I suppose it is safe to assume that I am elected. All I have to say is that I am very much gratified at the support tendered me. It bears out the anticipations of my friends. "I am also gratified to know that it appears as if Mr. Grout and Mr. Forne were elected and Van Wyck defeated. m m m "All I am anxious about now is Jerome. From the figures I have it appears that he will prove to be a winner, too. I am going to Great Barrington, Mass., to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock and shall remain there the rest of the week to take a rest."

NEW JERSEY VOTE WAS BADLY MIXED.

Count Difficult and State Claimed by Republicans--Disputed by Democrats.

New Jersey Republicans claim the election of Franklin Murphy for Governor by 12,000. The Democrats dispute this and say that the count of the votes will show that James W. Seymour will win with a small margin, probably 2,500. Reports from all parts of the State show the vote to be heavy. In the cities, like Newark, Jersey City, Camden, Hoboken, Trenton, Paterson and Elizabeth there was much pasting of ballots and both sides claimed to be the gainer by it. A long and complicated count is looked for, as it is believed fully one-third of the ballots bear pasters. Both Murphy and Seymour are said to have been out by their parties in different places. Democrats say that if Seymour is defeated it will be largely due to treachery. Hudson County has probably gone Democratic by 8,000, but in Jersey City the Republicans have hopes of Mark M. Pagan's election as Mayor over George T. Smith. Hudson County re-elected State Senator Robert M. Hudspeth.

Following are the indications from the returns up to 10 P. M.:

Low's majority Mayor of Greater New York 30,000
Jerome's majority for District Attorney . . . 4,500
Van Wyck, Supreme Court Judge, Defeated 25,000
Grout's majority for Comptroller . . . 35,000
Fornes's majority President Board Aldermen 7,200
Cantor's majority for President Manhattan 10,000
Oakley's majority for Sheriff, Manhattan . . . 3,500

Seth Low has been elected Mayor of New York. The returns indicate that the entire fusion ticket, with one exception, has gone through, though by a smaller vote.

Oakley, the Tammany candidate for Sheriff, may win. For District Attorney, 265 Election Districts out of 887 give Jerome 42,677; Unger, 41,214. This will give Jerome about 4,500 plurality.

The Evening World's edition issued at 6.18 P. M. and the white light turned on in The World dome at the same instant gave the first news.

"Brooklyn has elected Low, but we have carried the county ticket," said Richard Crocker, at 8 o'clock.

Van Wyck has been badly cut and is undoubtedly defeated. 1,100 election districts out of 1,537 in Greater New York give Low 206,747 and Shepard 183,382.

645 election districts out of 1,537 give Fornes 116,300 and Van Hoesen 103,479. 160 election districts out of 887 in New York County give O'Brien 23,231, and Oakley 24,299 for Sheriff.

190 election districts out of 887 give Jerome 29,897, and Unger 28,171 for District-Attorney.

Twenty districts out of 73 in Queens give Low 3,221 and Shepard 3,751, a majority of 500 for Shepard.

Half the election districts in Staten Island show a Low majority of 94.

The first four wards of Richmond give Low 5,939; Shepard 5,282. The same wards give Grout 5,879; Ladd 5,143.

LOW WAY AHEAD ON STATEN ISLAND.

Richmond joined her sister boroughs in swelling the Low majority. Nicholas Muller, the local Democratic boss, has been beaten in his own stronghold. Thirty out of the forty election districts from which returns had been received up to half-past 8 o'clock indicated a majority of more than 650 for the fusion candidate for Mayor. In these thirty districts Low's vote was 5,911 and Shepard's 4,512.

Thirty-five election districts gave George Cronwell 5,781 for Borough President to 5,291 for Nicholas Muller. This indicates Muller's defeat by more than 400. The first four wards of the borough give Low a total of 5,939 to 5,282 for Shepard. This shows a majority of 657 for Low. In the same wards Grout received 5,879 to 5,143 for Ladd.

RIVAL LEADERS UNDER ARREST.

Ex-Assemblyman John S. Maher, who is acting as a McCullagh deputy in the Thirtieth Election District of the Seventh Assembly District, and Harry J. Hall, of No. 200 West Fifteenth street, the Tammany captain in that district, each had the other arrested and taken before Magistrate Olmsted on a charge of interfering with voters. Hall furnished $500 bail and Maher was released on parole.
